URL: A: You are using python-dateutil. This module relies on a machine-specific timestamp (created_at). It does not provide you with a more universal timestamp. As of today, the version of python-dateutil I have installed is v2.6.2. You can see the timestamp format is now "YYYY-MM-DD hh:mm:ss.SSS" instead of "YYYY-MM-DD HH:MM:SS". You will need to upgrade your python-dateutil to get a universal timestamp. I suggest you use pip3 install python-dateutil==2.6.2.

Long-term evaluation of the effect of the strain on pulmonary function in collagen-induced arthritis in mice. Collagen-induced arthritis (CIA) is an animal model of rheumatoid arthritis (RA) and is used to study the pathogenesis of this disease and to evaluate the therapeutic effect. However, the pathogenesis of the disease is still not fully understood. In the present study, we evaluated the effect of collagen II peptide (CII) on the development of pulmonary function in mice with CIA. Male DBA/1J mice were immunized with CII in Freund's incomplete adjuvant. Arthritis was assessed by paw swelling. Pulmonary function tests were performed on mice at the indicated times after immunization. Pulmonary function tests showed a significant difference in the forced expiratory volume in 1 second and the peak expiratory flow (PEF) between the immunized and control mice. These differences were even larger in mice at 10 wk of age than in mice at 3 wk of age. Histological and morphological analyses showed that there were no significant differences between the lungs of the control and immunized mice. These findings suggest that CII caused a significant difference in the development of pulmonary function in mice with CIA at 10 wk of age.
