1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to an improved wireless communication device antenna and, in particular, to a printed circuit board-based antenna which incorporates a dielectric support structure to provide a high Q-factor for the antenna. The structure further provides a constant impedance over a wide RF range.

2. Background of the Invention Wireless communication devices are becoming increasingly popular. Many such devices are portable and include a primary communication device, e.g., a cell phone, and a secondary communication device, e.g., a pager
