The last general review of U.S. flag vessels in 2007 listed 394 vessels. The number of U.S. flags registered under the Commission's management for the Commission's exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ) has declined steadily in the last ten years, from 251 registered vessels in 2005 to 242 in 2007. However, the number of vessels has increased in the last three years under the Commission's management and inspection management to 289 in 2010. This report provides a current count of U.S. Pacific Ocean registered vessels, including vessel numbers, locations and port information for vessels with an estimated fishing history before 2011. The report also includes more detailed information on the fishing activities of U.S. vessels that were inspected by the Commission in 2011. Many of these vessels previously had U.S. flag and some of these vessels have passed without inspection since 2007. However, some vessels that had passed without inspection may have passed inspection in 2012. Vessels registered as single purpose (SP) vessels, such as those registered for charter fishing, require no income tax information. Such vessels are exempt from the U.S. federal income tax (FIT) and pay no FIT at any time. On the other hand, vessels registered under the “charter basic” FIT method (see below) pay no federal income taxes on fish caught using Union-identified funds, but must pay a 15 percent tax on the value of fish acquired using non-Union funds. A company must register a vessel “for a period of one year, unless the Commissioner with the prior approval of the FWC or the PIFMC, or the Secretary if a vessel owner is a federal entity, extends the period
