Willi Gall Willi Gall (24 September 1895 – 7 July 1978) was an Austrian graphic artist and illustrator. He was one of the creators of the minimalist style and expressionism. Gall was a member of the Viennese surrealist group "Der Blaue Reiter" and the movement's most important graphic artist. Early life Willi Gall was born as Wilhelm Gall on 24 September 1895 in Vienna. He received his first artistic training from his father as a house painter and an admirer of ancient Greek culture. Gall later studied at the Academy of Fine Arts in Vienna and the Salzburg Academy of Fine Arts. In 1917 he married Marta Nagler and converted to Catholicism. In 1927 he started to work as a free illustrator in Vienna. He worked for a pharmaceutical company and worked there in his free time as an illustrator for the monthly journal "Klub". Illustration Gall worked as a free illustrator until 1920. At the start of the 1920s he started to collaborate with Otto Blum and Egon Feifel, who also belonged to "The Blue Rider Group". His first drawings were created for the magazine "Vienna Wochenschrift" and their travel journal "Viennese Panorama", for which Gall accompanied Otto Blum on his travel route in the 1920s. His "Self Portrait" from 1927 is an example of the graphic style of the Blue Rider movement. In the 1930s Gall worked for the Wiener Secession. Here he also worked with Egon Feifel and Konrad Klapheck who also belonged to "The Blue Rider group". At the end of the 1930s and the beginning of the 1940s he joined
