If the program is ready, then it can be used to create packages (in order to develop a new version). Consider an example when the program is ready to run (Fig. 1). All modules are created in it (Figure 1.6). Rice. 1.7. Program interface Removed unnecessary The menu bar contains the Autorun button (Figure 1.8). When you click on it, the \\t\\t\\theme.tpl page opens (Fig. 1.9). This page creates link lists for each module. At the same time, the button for transferring modules does not appear in GTA IV (Fig. 2.3). The button is used to describe and edit the list of links. Learn more about buttons. Fig 1.9. Custom page \\theme The menu page is open (Fig.2.4). After pressing the Batch Processing button (Figure 2 4) opens a page with components that need to be edited (Figure 5). Here you can edit the full list of links (Figure 7) and add new links (Figure 8). The standard view of the List template (Figure 9). This is followed by work with modules (Fig. 10). Extensions table (Fig. 11) as html (Fig. 12). You can view the list of modules on the module list page (Figure 14). The features of each button are considered. Add link when clicked the user creates a menu page link to the page that hosts the add link form (.html, or .htmlx). With this button you can edit the table object. To do this, go to editing the table (in the same window of the program) and click on the add link button. The object type is determined by the Go to editable object button (Fig. 15). Then the object is formatted (Figure 16). At the same time, the table changes in the object (Fig. 17) The types of buttons are considered, their properties and calls are considered. The list of buttons is uploaded to the source site. The view of the editor is considered. An example of menu design is given. The program provides synchronization (if the option to check the license is enabled) with all versions of GTA 4. The sequence of actions with the module is as follows (Fig. 18):
